Auto Balks On Steep Grade Then Rolls Into The River

(Associated Press)
MONROEVILLE, Ala., July 27.—The body of five year old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Tucker, Pensacola, has been recovered from the Alabama river at a point near Clebourne landing where the automobile bearing five members of the Tucker family was plunged into the Alabama river Sunday. The body of a three year old son was recovered shortly after the accident.

A negro ferryman saved the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Tucker and a 12-year old son. The two younger sons were pinned in the motor car. The body of the three year old child was removed from the rear seat, but the body of the five year old son became released from the watery prison and floated downstream for nearly two miles. It came to the surface Monday and was recovered.

Mr. and Mrs. Tucker had ferried across the stream and were ascending a steep grade when the car in some manner became unmanageable and slipped backward into the river. The heroism of the ferryman was believed to have been responsible for the rescue of three of the five persons.

LETTER WRITTEN ABOUT TRIAL

"Mystery Woman," Knows Nothing About Writing

(Associated Press)
BIRMINGHAM, July 27—'Did Mary Simmons, mystery woman, in the Byron Shirley trial write a letter admitting perjury in her important testimony?"

This question confronted the office of Solicitor James D. Davis today when a letter came into the possession of authorities signed "Mary Simmons" and declaring that she 'lied" on the witness stand in her testimony on the killing of John B. Jones state law enforcement officer.

Miss Simmons when questioned by a reporter said that she did not write the letter and attributed it to an enemy.

A comparison of her handwriting with that of the letter showed both marked similarity and differences it was stated. The solicitor's office was preparing to investigate.

The letter was addressed to James M. Jones, President of the city commission and brother of the slain man. The letter purporting to come from the "mystery woman was poorly written and a number of words were misspelled. The letter did not bear any date or salutation. The letter read:

"I wasn't with Barrett and Tate when they shot Johnny. They gave me money to tell the lie and they still owe me yet. Do what you want to. I don't care. From Mary Simmons."

Signals For Turn Candidates Shake Hands 3 Times

Don't use the old style traffic signal any longer—unless you wish to shake hands with a candidate for some office. The story is going the rounds today that a local man, coming to the intersection of Moulton street and Second Avenue, stuck his hand out the side of his car, signalling that he wished to go up Second avenue. Three candidates shook hands with him before he could get his hand back—so the story goes. Another argument for using new traffic signals.

ACCIDENT VICTIM NOW UNCONSCIOUS

Miss Minnie Smith Is Returned To Home at Tuscumbia

Miss Lena Mae Mihan, injured Saturday night in an automobile wreck in which one was killed and six injured, was still unconscious today at Benevolent hospital, Miss Minnie Smith who suffered severe and perhaps serious injuries today was removed to her home at Tuscumbia.

Miss Mihan, who suffered a fractured skull at the base of the brain has not be conscious since the hour of the unfortunate crash. Several times she was given up as dead as the ambulance speeded here from north of Athens where the accident occurred. Physicians continue to express doubt for her recovery.

Miss Smith who suffered a broken leg and fractured jaw today was removed to her home in Tuscumbia.

Russell Elledge declared to have been the driver of the ill-fated car is resting as well as could be expected, though physicians did not deem it advisable to remove him to his home today.

TURNER WALKS TO FREEDOM OUT OF JAIL FRONT DOOR

Keys Believed Have Been Left Hanging In Outside Door

REWARD STAKED FOR HIS CAPTURE

Unusual Escape Is Recorded Early This Morning

W. L. Turner, charged with grand larceny, is at large today after walking out the front door of the Morgan county jail.

One of the most unusual occurrences in the history of jail annals here occurred this morning about nine o'clock, according to authorities, when it is stated that W. L. Turner, Georgia youth, who is held here on a charge of having stolen an automobile, picked up the keys to the outside jail door and calmly walked out the front door. No trace had been found of him up until noon today.

It was stated by officials that Pink Gargus, janitor, had gone to the cell on the second floor of the building where the majority of prisoners are kept, with the intention of washing the cell, required twice a week. He is declared to have unlocked the inside cell door to have the prisoners aid him, already having locked the outside door and locking himself in the enclosure, but having left the keys hanging in the door. Turner is believed to have slipped away while the janitor and prisoners were scrubbing the big cell.

A reward has been offered by sheriff's forces for his apprehension.

Turner was placed in the local jail some ten days ago after his capture in South Alabama, local authorities having traced him to that point, it is stated, by some letters he is said to have dropped on the road.

Officers began search for the escape immediately.

Attorneys Refuse To Give Evidence

(Associated Press)
LOS ANGELES, July 27—Attorneys for Aimee Semple McPherson announced today that they would not permit her fingerprints to be taken to compare with those found in a Carmel, Cal., cottage where it is asserted she spent sometime after being supposedly drowned. They also said that they would refuse to supply samples of her handwriting to compare with chirography found in the cottage.

Voltaire, discussing democracy and monarchy, said it didn't make much difference to a poor man whether he was eaten by one lion or by one hundred rats.

Some day the people may learn to govern themselves. But must go on experimenting as they are far from that now, and they have done for the last hundred thousand years and more.

SENATOR HARRISON WOULD PUT MUSCLE SHOALS ON CALENDAR

"Muscle Shoals Is A Cog In This Great Industrial Wheel Needed To Move South's Prosperity," Says Senator

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, July 27—Senator Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, declared today that during the early days of the next session of Congress he would move to have Muscle Shoals legislation made the unfinished business.

If his motion prevails, he believes that the tangled Muscle Shoals problem which has been before Congress for the last ten years can be solved definitely and the great Southern water power put into effective use.

"With a strong minority opposing private operation it will be necessary to get the question before the Senate early in the session and hold it there until it is voted on" he said.

"If it ever comes to a vote in the Senate and the Republicans remain in line a bill will be passed at the next session by both the Senate and the House. The time has come for the development, it has caught the fancy and the pocketbook of the North and Muscle Shoals is a cog in this great industrial wheel needed to move the South and nation's prosperity."

POLITICAL FIRES BURN IN LAWRENCE

Many Candidates Are Heard At Opening Of The Court

MOULTON, Ala., July 27—(Special).—The political fires burned to their highest thus far in the season, at Moulton, Monday, Thru courtesy of the circuit judge the various aspirants or their representatives for office spoke from eleven o'clock until one-thirty.

Hon. W. W. Callahan, of Decatur, spoke in the crowded court room at the opening in behalf of A. H. Carmichael. His address was free of mud-slinging and full of reasons, as he saw them, for supporting Mr. Carmichael for governor. The Honorable Bibb Graves followed Mr. Callahan and spoke in his own behalf to hundreds assembled on the court yard. His address was given the best of hearing and punctuated with frequent applause.

Hon. Hugo Black then addressed the crowds in behalf of his candidacy for the United States Senate. He left soon after for Mount Hope, in the west part of the county, to deliver another address. After dinner, the Honorable John H. Bankhead made a masterful address in his behalf and was followed for a three-minute talk by Honorable George Duncan, of Limestone county, candidate for the position of Lieutenant-Governor. Each of the candidates gave his plea as he has been reported in various parts of the State and each spoke for the first time during the campaign in the county. Adherents to Mr. Patterson were on the ground as were a few McDowell fololwers. County candidates made use of the opportunity to shake hands with many a voter.

METHODISTS MEET TO DISCUSS ANNEX

Headway Is Made On Building Of Plant In Addition

Members of the board of stewards, First Methodist church, Decatur, met Monday evening to further consider plans for the building of a Sunday school annex, the estimated cost not yet being given. It is believed that results of the Monday meeting were very profitable, members stating today that considerable headway had been made.

Ground on the north side of the church will be utilized in the placing of the new annex, while the present building housing the Sunday school department will undergo some necessary changes.

Building of the addition will add greatly to the appearance of the present plant, which now is considered to offer one of the best auditoriums in North Alabama. Members of the board of stewards are greatly interested in the progress that has been made and express the opinion that the building may soon be under construction.

Vaccination Goes Up. Short Skirts Given As Causes

By International News Service

PARIS—Going up! Everything—even the vaccination spot seems to be on the upward trend.

That coquettry is a real cult in France, is once more proved by the fact that French doctors are now doing their vaccinating high up on the thigh, at least when the patient is of feminine sex. Not for a long time have they dared to scar a beautiful arm. The calf of the leg was chosen as a far more preferable spot until the coming of very short skirts moved it up where there is no possible danger of it being seen through diaphanous stockings.

CROP CONDITIONS IN TWO COUNTIES VERY REASSURING

Observers Discuss the Probability Of Fine Yields In Fall

BUMPER COTTON CROP EXPECTED

Corn And Hay Fare Excellently With Recent Rains

Morgan and Limestone counties bid fair to boast of the greatest crop yield ever recorded at the close of the agricultural year this fall.

This information was brought here today by observers who have made a study of the conditions in both counties and who declare that farmers are well pleased over the two counties with the progress that crops have made thus far, despite adverse weather conditions at the beginning of the year.

From Morgan county comes the report that while other counties are stressing the danger of an injured cotton yield, due to hoppers and weevils, there has been only scattered appearance of the pests in the county. Some difficulty has been met in the failure to obtain farm hands. A temporary drouth has been broken in this county within the past week.

Conditions in Limestone county are more than resassuring, farmers stating that crop progress is all that is to be asked. This is particularly applicable in the south Limestone sections, farmers believing that the greatest harvest yield in years can be counted upon.

Reports from the agricultural sections are pleasing in these cities, a bulk of the trade of both counties coming here for fall buying and selling.

While cotton reports for the Tennessee Valley are not so promising as at this time last year, it is the opinion of farmers that Morgan and Limestone yields will equal if not surpass the heavy cotton

INTEREST IS HIGH IN CAIN BARBECUE

Candidates Will Be Present, Others To Be Represented

Interest over the Cain Barbecue event of Wednesday continued high today when it was learned that practically all the county candidates will be present at the outing and that a great many of the state candidates will be represented.

Hon. L. B. Musgrove will be represented and Hon. J. H. Bankhead is represented, while Judge James J. Mayfield will attend in person and deliver the principal address.

Colonel H. M. Bankhead, brother of the senatorial candidate, will represent his brother at the barbecue, explaining the reasons Mr. Bankhead should be placed in the senate.

CHEROKEE COUNTAIN PREDICTS SOLID PATTERSON VOTE CAST

The Fact Is, Says Cherokee Farmer, You Don't Hear Men In My County Talking About Others Than Patterson In Race

G. C. Ray, prominent farmer of Cedar Bluff Route 1, Cherokee county, thinks that his county is going to vote solid for Andrew G. Patterson in the coming gubernatorial primaries. Mr. Ray stated, according to the Gadsden Times, that a few people who were relatives of Governor Brandon might vote for C. S. McDowell.

His interesting statement follows:

"The fact is," Mr. Ray said, "you don't hear men in my county talking about anybody but Patterson except a few people who will probably vote for McDowell because they are relatives of Governor Brandon."

"There are a good many other reasons why I am going to vote for Patterson," Mr. Ray stated, "but the two things that make Mr. Patterson stronger with the people of my section than anything else are his stands on the road question and taking the convicts out of the mines and putting them on the roads, where they ought to have been long ago.

"Nobody that I know of in my section would vote for the bond issue, and the people realize that Mr. Patterson is the only man in the race who has planned a common sense program for building roads.

"The people believe in him because he laid down a business-like program for the state government way yonder last year and he knew exactly what he was talking about then, and nobody has been able to pick a single flaw in his plans yet.

"The people know that he is a high-class man that can be trusted. There hasn't been a soul in the whole campaign who has been able to point out anything that has ever reflected upon Mr. Patterson's personal character or upon his actions in public office throughout his long service as a member of the highway commission and as president of the public service commission.

"They know that when he tells them that he will take the convicts out of the mines and put them on the roads he will do it, and they know that he will do the other things he promises.

"The people in Cherokee are strong for Patterson. While I do not mix up in politics much, myself, I get around a good deal and it's a fact that you seldom hear them talking about any other candidate in the race for governor and if election day was tomorrow he would get more votes in Cherokee county than all of the other candidates put together."

DAMAGE OVER FIVE MILLIONS IS TOLL OF COAST TWISTER

MIAMI FEELS STORM LASH

Communication With West Palm Beach Is Cut Off

(Associated Press)
MIAMI, Fla., July 27—Advices received here by wireless today said that the Italian steamer Ansaldo San Giorgio Secondo, in distress off northeast Hillsboro had been lost by the Ward liner Orizaba and the steamer West Harshaw which had been standing by. The Ansaldo was carried out of sight by high seas at 11:45 a. m. today.

Early advices received through the Savannah wireless station placed the number of men aboard the Ansaldo at thirty.

Damage estimated at more than $100,000 was caused in Miami by the hurricane. This includes two thirds of the Alverado near crops.

Brief reports from Nassau placed the hurricane damage at more than $5,000,000. No details were given in the brief dispatch.

The hurricane came in from the Carribean Sea and passed up the Florida east coast. The weather bureau reported here today as central a short distance east of the Florida coast between Miami and Jupiter inlet. It is moving slowly northwestward. In the past 24 hours the storm center has moved only 50 miles.

No loss of life in this vicinity has been reported as a result of the storm.

JACKSONVILLE, July 27—The lower east coast of Florida today was lashed by a hurricane which swept up out of the Carribean sea and which the weather bureau recarded this morning as headed westward over extreme Southern Florida.

The storm which at times attained a velocity of 80 miles an hour caught the Italian steamer Ansaldo San Giogio Seconda off Jupiter Inlet.

Other shipping on the east coast was believed to have sought bases in creeks and inlets and inner harbors as a result of the warning given before the hurricane reached them.

Wire communication with Miami and West Palm Beach was interrupted early today and had not been restored at noon except that the Western Union reported intermittent service to Miami through cables via Key West.

Efforts at noon to get West Palm Beach were met with reports that a storm was raging at that point and that it was impossible to make communication.

Efforts to track a rumor from Pompino, Fla., that eight men were drowned when a small fishing boat was sunk off that town yesterday were fruitless. The unconfirmed rumor was reported by the keeper of Hillsboro Light, which is 35 miles from Miami.

Clyde E. Ellis, contractor and Ray Butler narrowly escaped drowning during the night when their small sailing boat capsized more than a mile from shore. The two men swam the distance through the choppy water.

The weather bureau here says the storm center is shifting to Jupiter, the barometer is 29.51 with a tendency to rise.

The storm is lessening here from a hurricane proportion to a north westwardly gale.

PARIS.—If Paris has long been considered the inferno for horses, it will soon be their cemetery. Recent statistics show that the day is not far-distant when, if a passer-by happens to find a horse-shoe in the street he will demand with perplexity, "What in the world can that thing be?

Before the war, taxes upon horses mules and mulets amounted to at least 260,000 francs a year. For 1926 the sum is no more than 76-000 in round numbers. A few more years, and the horse tax will not amount to much. Only a few lean old horses, belonging to the picturesque redvested cabbies are to be seen on the Grands Boulevards taking the tourists for a ride through the Bois. Truch horses are still plentiful, sleek and fat-looking, a pleasant sight in these days but a sad one when they slip and fall on the wet pavement—and it is nearly always wet in Paris.

It pays to have a wife in Greece. Her upkeep does not amount to as much as the high taxes bachelors must pay. A recent decree establishes a special tax of 3,000 drachmas upon unmarried men from twenty-four to forty years of age and 1000 drachmas for those above this age. The sums are important enough to make one think that it is never too late to mend.

A peasant of Gorgier in Switzerland has recently found an old manuscript dater 1741 by which it is found that this year greatly resembled the present, in regard to bad weather. Previous to the 23rd of June in 1741 it rained forty whole days. After that, fine weather set in and lasted until February of the following winter.

The man who "made the Bois" the famous wooded park on the edge of Paris, is to receive the honor of an inscription bearing his name and the dates 1853-54 on the rock in the big lake. The idea of providing the capital with a great garden with superb winding thoroughfares, straight avenues, shady pathways and vast open spaces was mainly due to Napoleon III who got his inscription from London's Hyde Park. In the time of Empress Eugene, the land passed into the hands of the city and the work of forming the wood entrusted to the landscape architect Vare who had some assistance from Baron Haussmann.

"Whoever is so naive as to believe that jazz is synonymous with American music should make a voyage of discovery. It is an importation and the American with his love for the exotic has found pleasure in it."

So declared Karl Krueger, newly appointed conducror of the Seattle Symphony Orchestra now in Paris.

"The crude jungle rhythms of jazz have been an antidote for the complicated nervous rhyms of twentieth century life in the United States. We all like a bit of jazz now and then, if for no other reason than because it helps us to forget how far upward the race of men has climbed.

"But, to sum up American taste in music, with one word 'jazz' is not only nauseatingly ignorant but also profoundly insulting. I have seen hundreds of times in the United States those strange bedfellows, love of Beethoven and love of jazz, dwelling peacefully side by side in the same heart."

Mr. Krueger predicted that within a short time every American city of fifty thousand inhabitants will have its own symphony orchestra, paid for, not by some price or duke, but by the people themselves.

PRISONER HELD IN JAIL

ATHENS, Ala., July 26.—One of the strangest robberies in local history took place here Sunday night when Lewis Owens, negro convict at the county jail, was robbed of five dollars while he slept. The money was all that Owens had about his person and he was accustomed simply to leave it in his pants pocket at night, having no fear of it disappearing. On awakening Monday morning, however, he discovered that the pocket book had been tampered with and was completely empty, evidently having been rifled while he slept. A number of other negroes are in the same cell with Owens are nebut a careful search of them by the sheriff failed to reveal the guilty party on account of other money already possessed by the other prisoners. Owens appears very much disturbed about his loss, claiming that he thought all his fellow convicts were "honest." In the same cell wth Owens are negroes accused of murder, assault with intent to murder, and petit larceny.

PRIZE TOMATO PLANT

Lewis Crasse, local busines man, has on exhibition today a group of tomatoes from a plant which agricultiurists claim is the prize plant of the county. The group consists of five tomatoes all from a single stem, no one less than about six inches in diameter, the cluster weighing over six pounds. The plant from which the stem came is literally covered with the fruit, it being estimated that the tomatoes on it will weight around sixty to seventy pounds.

RAILWAYS MAY FACE TIE-UP AS UNIONS ASK ADDITIONAL PAY

By BEN STERN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CLEVELAND, Ohio— Railway transportation on the North American Continent faces a probable tie-up this fall, with the definite announcement by officials of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers that this organization has committed itself to demand a wage increase.

By prior action the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engine men has agreed to join in with the Engineers in the wage movement.

More than 200,000 members of these two organizations, employed on the 235 railroads of the United States and Canada are affected by this decision.

Although the wage demands have not been delivered to railroad heads and the exact amount of the desired increase has not been divulged, officials of the brotherhood admitted that the boost would average $1 per day.

This, if accepted, would make the top scale for engineers about $9 per day; the top for firemen about $7.

Brotherhood heads are now engaged in planning the method to be used in presenting the demand to railroad officials.

Hopeful that it will not be necessary to call a strike in order to obtain the wage demands, officials of the two brotherhoods said that this will be the first real test for the mediative powers of the Railroad Labor Commission recently created under the Watson-Parker act.

Two reasons are advanced by the railroad man why they should have increases:

First the increased cost of living; second the added responsibility incurred by engineers as the result of the enormous automobile traffic today which has added to their shoulders as every crossing must be watched.

Decision to ask for an increase was reached by representatives of the national divisions and locals of the Brotherhoods after more than two weeks of deliberation.

harvest of last year when both counties came near reaching the 40,000 bale mark. Numbers of farmers have resorted to the half and half planting idea this year, growing half in cotton and half in corn, with hay, to which this section is said to be particularly adapted, as a side crop for the feeding of livestock. Some complaint is heard from farm associations for a lack of truck and food crops, but belief is general that another year will find the diversified methed of planting growing in popularity.

WEIGHTED BODY WASHED ASHORE

No Clue To Man Is Gained From the Examination

(Associated Press)

RIVERSIDE, Ala., July 27—The face smothered in a heavy bath towel and a suitcase containing several pounds of iron tied about his neck, the body of an unidentified white man, was washed ashore here today.

There were no clues to the man's identity. The body was found caught in underbrush on the banks of the Coosa River. A coroner's jury said death was from 'drowning or other unknown causes."

The suitcase in addition to the iron weight contained a practically new suit without a trade mark. The towel had been wrapped about the face and fastened with a safety pin.

The body is that of a man about 65 years old. The man had no teeth. If the body is not claimed it will be buried by the city.

Authorities are investigating.

Another good use for Echols hill would be a proving ground for government armored tanks.

Parachute jumpers get thrills and money for their daring. Automobile drivers get only thrills. Who's a nut?

You may already have pulled off your coat, in view of the political temperature caused by state races, but keep your shirt on when the city races roll around.

The Tennessee Valley is a little behind schedule in cotton growing at the present crop report, but you can bet your boots that there will be plenty of cotton when harvest time is here.

Those who glory in the defeat of others might awaken to the fact that there is often more than one gloater around who may also get a chance to do some gloating.

About the saddest thing in the world will be the face of some of the defeated candidates posing aboard some telephone pole on August 11. We suggest that campaign funds be raised now providing for the removal of such sad memories, the fund to be expended in the dead of night August 10.

Just because things are getting along pretty well is no reason why you should let up in your fight for success. Brisbane wisely said that the man who works in July and August is the man who will succeed.

Governor Kilby certainly lost no time in telling Senatorial candidates what he thought of their parley. As a business man the former governor has quite a bit of fighting spirit, worth merit to any man.

THE OPTIMISTIC SIDE TO THE LOCAL SITUATION

Things look brighter with the days for Albany-Decatur's landing a good sized industry to care for the legions of the unemployed in and about the cities. Albany-Decatur's splendid location, good transportation facilities and labor conditions is encouraging to those on the outside. Likewise, Albany-Decatur's willingness to subscribe funds to a sound business propostion is counting heavliy at the present.

With the coming of fall something definite in the shape of a magnificent new industry, employing our unemployed, eating our commodities, buying our goods, should be assured here. That is indeed encouraging to the people who have been believers in this site as an industrial center, encouraging to the skeptical who have scratched their heads all along and doubted the ability of these cities to make a proposal and then show the outsider just what is offered here in the way of inside capital.

Chances are brighter today than they have been in a long while, things may break right or they may break wrong, but rest assured that the civic interests here are not asleep at the switch and that every effort is being bended to teach the world what Albany-Decatur has to offer.

DURKIN "WISE CRACKS" ABOUT A WOMAN AND GETS BEATEN

Martin Durkin, shiek bandit who recently was given a 35-year sentence for having shot a patrolman, had more misery attached to his penalty the other day when he happened to make a "wise crack" about a fellow prisoner's sweetheart. Durkin was beaten for his remark, the prison's inmates turned upon him for his remark.

But the fact that Durkin was beaten isn't at all significant, the significant circumstance is found in the fact that though a man was in prison for some crime he had committed against society that he had not fallen so low as to forget to resent unkind and loathesome words about a woman. A great many of those prisoners had probably never seen the woman whom Durkin chose to attack, but they had seen a woman in their lifetime and they had not forgotten that their mother was a woman. They resented his alleged remark and rightly. It is refreshing to read of such events, though they come from behind the gray, menacing walls of a prison.

THE COUNTRY COMES TO THE CITY WITH THE LATEST CONVENIENCES

The nation is coming to the city. Within the years to come there will be no section designated as "rural community." The ruralist is passing with the stretching of telephone communication, lighting facilities, water power, motor power, school building, good roads, daily newspapers.

Find an agriculturist today who is not interested in modern invention, find a farmer who is not interested in the latest radio device for controlling static, find this man back on the farm who isn't interested in governmental and state policies, who doesn't keep in touch with the world through the medium of the press, and we will find you a man so far back in the woods that he never heard of a tensus and still thinks an ox cart is a luxury enjoyed only by the rich.

Farming America is passing, passing rapidly and in its stead is coming powerful Agricultural America, a cross-section of the American people, educated, prosperous, willing in civic affairs, up-to-date in matters of business, no longer purchasing gold bricks, but buying tractors to care for farm work, automobiles to come to town in, good clothes to wear on Sunday, electric washing machines, keeping a knowledge of the markets, knowing what is best to do through a developed business sense. Farming America will go, but Agricultural America will appear, giving this country fine crops, furnishing materials for clothing, edibles for the table with a carefully planned and prepared program of diversification. That day will dawn with the modern age.

A SAD STORY HARKENING BACK TO WAR DAYS

Over near Memphis, Tennessee, so the story goes, a mother wished to keep her son at home over the protest of neighbors. The son had been to France to fight for his country, he had returned to his Tennessee home broken in spirit and health. He had become unkept in his appearance and his mind had been considerably weakened, through the effects of poison gas. The neighbors didn't like his appearance, so they asked that he be kept at home and not allowed upon the streets. The mother complied with the request and at the suggestion of the city authorities, she erected a sort of pen in which to keep her son.

Now the neighbors protest because the cage is unsigthly.

Why does the world harbor such people? Why do kindly people have to be eternally afflicted with human nuisances who run about looking after everybody's affairs but their own, causing disturbance, perhaps misery as in this good woman's case? She gave the country her son, her country gave back a wrecked human being, probably lacking in mental capacity, but still her son, all that she had. The neighbors protest that the pen, or fence is unsightly and should be removed and her son with it. Naturally it is not pleasant to look upon poor afflicted creatures placed upon this earth to remind us that, our lot however heavy, is light, but that poor mother who had saved to build that pen, just to keep the shadow of her son with her has more than she can bear with her affliction of neighbors who are continually looking after her best interests. It is indeed an unfortunate situation.

PROFESSOR HODSON TAKES ISSUE REGARDING "SCHOOL BOOK TRUST"

In yesterday's newspaper there appeared a letter from Professor Earl M. Hodson, county superintendent of education of Lawrence county in which Professor Hodson took issue with Andrew G. Patterson, gubernatorial candidate, regarding the existence of a "school book trust" in this state.

The writer's letter was clearly outlined and his arguments convincing, certainly a letter worth the attention of the time of the reading public.

The existence of the "school book trust" is something The Daily cannot vouch for, as it is comparatively new issue in the campaign. Yet, having confidence in any talk Mr. Patterson might make to the people of this state The Daily does not hesitate to suggest that Mr. Patterson has his figures and his data correct. Mr. Patterson has never been a type to "dupe" people, he has been a substantial business man in these cities and his record here will stand for his veracity. In his state race every issue injected into the campaign has been based upon facts and figures. In his educational platform plank he goes further than other candidates, in that he tells what he is going to do and how he is going to raise the money to accomplish his task. In his road platform there is a replica. His removal of the convicts from the mines and the estimated revenue to be realized is not in any way guess work. His taxation plan which will be put into action against great utilities of this state, bringing them to a taxation basis equal to the same basis on which taxes are based in other states of the South, is based on fact and not guess work. Every bit of his campaign has been based on existing facts and figures. Why then should it be doubted that there is such a body existing as the "school book trust," why is it not reasonable to assume that a man who has the good of his state at heart in all other lines of enterprise, progress and meritorious endeavor, should not have the same idea when he speaks of lowering the cost of the school book to the parent.

The reason this issue has been brought into the race is this, as we see it. Mr. Patterson has apparently been thwarted in his educational policies through the propaganda of other candidates, they have had the means and the money at their disposal to reach the people of the state, while he has been forced to make his trips to the voters. They, some of them, have had organizations to carry out all wishes, he has been without such an organization, going to the people himself and telling them of the issues as he sees them and expects to place them in practice. Mr. Patterson hardly would have made the "school book trust" an issue had it not been that there is basis for such statement, he isn't that type of man. He has been in the open since the beginning of the campaign and he will be in the open at the end of the race, he will carry his standards to the fore mainly because he has seen the people in person, mainly because he has placed facts and figures in his race where others have left the public to guess the best it could with a maze of promises to see through.

THE INEXHAUSTIBLE SUPPLY

Voice of People

Mr. R. B. Vail,
Montgomery, Ala.
Dear Mr. Vail:

I am in receipt of your letters in reply to mine to Mr. C. S. McDowell for which I thank you very much. That in regard to the auditing is instructive and appreciated. That in regard to the bond issues of the late sixties and early seventies is interesting for what is left unmentioned.

The carpetbaggers (and rabble) were at that time the government, in fact, of Alabama. They issued many bonds for the construction of railroads. The whole country went wild about railroads, states, counties and sub-divisions of counties issued bonds for railroad construction. That was the only thing to do, to get the railroads, and get them quick. The result was that there were many railroads with bonds to sell, for a time all went well, there was plenty of money, but when the government began to take in its treasury notes that had been issued during the war, money became scarce, and those who were building railroads experienced great difficulty in obtaining money with which to carry on their work and were compelled to sell their bonds at any price or lose—all that they had put in to the railroads. A majority of those early railroad builders lost every thing, during the panic. The counties and towns or municipalities that had issued bonds were compelled to pay, while some of them never received any benefit from the railroads which they had indorsed for, in fact the roads were never built. Eventually the aristocrats, and intelligents, acquired control of the state, to its great benefit, but they also established a precedent, by repudiating certain bonds, which they held had not been used for the benefit of the state, or were sold at too low a price, ignoring the fact that the honor of a state is the same whether pledged by corruptable or incorruptable officials. That living conditions at that time were hard may have offered an excuse, but if the state is loaded with a huge debt now, and through the fall in price of cotton and a paralysis of business all over the country, hard times times may, undoubtedly will, return and another political upheaval may change the control of the state with another opportunity for repudiation.

Very sincerely yours,

est war in all history won Alsace and Lorraine taken back from Germany. Principles of the French revolution will outlive by many centuries a theory that one man, no matter how able, can drive millions of others with the toe of his boot.

BECAUSE French crowds occasionally mob American and British tourists, Senator Reed of Pennsylvania advises Americans to boycott Paris. That would be foolish. To one class of Americans France offers education, to another bigger class, it offers excellent wines.

The French, in trouble and needing a scapegoat will recover from their ill nature. Meanwhile they are friends of ours, we are in their debt financially. It would be a pity to deprive French trade of the hundreds of millions that Americans spend in France every year.

AS for denunciation of Americans in Britain, they put old John Bull in the unpleasant attitude of a welcher at the race track, dashing across the field to escape his creditors, cursing them as he runs.

John Bull when he borrowed meant to pay or did not mean to pay. If he meant to pay, let him pay. If he didn't mean to pay let him be an outspoken welcher, say so, and stop weeping.

A GREAT EMPIRE with its money at par, having financed itself through the world's greatest war with the help of this nation, cuts a sorry figure when in whines and begs.

IN VARIOUS cities parents are warned to "keep their children away from dogs, especially during hot weather."

Why not compel owners to keep the dogs away from children? One day's news told of many children attacked by dogs. One of the children was bitten twenty times. The law says that if the dog had never bitten anybody before he was entitled to each one of those twenty "first" bites. Quite an allowance.

A DOG entered a public playground in New York City and bit half a dozen of the children. Rabies is on the increase. And the authorities can only advise parents to keep their children away from dogs. Intelligent parents will see to it that dogs keep away from children.

ROYA AVANN, of Detroit, is ordered deported for moral turpitude. The same order, issued in the case of the Countess Cantcart, fell to the ground. She was a countess, attracted attention, deporting enthusiasts backed down.

The supreme court will decide about Roya Avann, and moral turpitude generally. Just what kind of moral turpitude is charged against the young lady of Detroit is not definitely stated. Something is said about two husbands. Certainly the learned justices will keep in mind two lines from John, chapter eight, verse seven: "He that is without sin among you, let him first cast a stone at her."

THE pursuit of bootleggers by the government leaves something to be desired, but Bootlegging in itself is well organized. In Chicago, for instance, bootleggers have headquarters close to the Cook county jail. Prisoners order their drinks by whistling, one whistle for beer, two whistles for whiskey. Guards of one jail, making frequent trips, bring the beer or whiskey to prisoners in rubber containers, hidden under their coats. That is system.

EVEN our little brown Filipino friends are planning to boycott United States goods. The Philippine supreme national council holds off the boycott for awhile because it rather likes Colonel Thompson, sent by President Coolidge to investigate.

If the Filipinos succeed in carrying out their plan to be free from United States control, they will have a chance to try control by the Japanese, an intelligent nation, willing to colonize. The Japanese, by the way wouldn't stand much boycott nonsense. Let the Filipinos ask the Koreans about that.

Mrs. J. D. Sharpe was hostess to the members of the Addie Cox Missionary Circle of the Decatur Baptist church on Monday afternoon. As the guests arrived they were served ice punch. Mrs. Paul Dix and Mrs. J. D. Sharp had charge of the devotional. The remainder of the afternoon session was spent in sewing for an orphan which the circle has adopted to clothe. At the close of the meeting at which there was one of the largest attendances on the records the hostess served ice tea and sandwiches.

Circles of the Women's Missionary Society of the First Methodist church met as follows—Mrs. J. P. Brock was hostess to Circle No. 1 at which meeting the study of the Conference Minutes was the principle part of the program. This was given by Mrs. G. D. Williamson, Mrs. S. D. Johnson, Mrs. Hartwell Davis, Mrs. George Rogers and Mrs. W. H. Ritter, and was very instructive. Special prayers were offered for the work in Mexico by a number of those present. This closed the meeting.

Circle No. 2 met with Mrs. O. B. Cartwright. This was the regular monthly meeting for Bible Study and was led by Mrs. Madgie Alexander who selected the twelfth chapter of Luke as the Scripture.

Circle No. 3 met at the home of Mrs. H. A. Nungester. The devotional was led by Mrs. Sam Malone and the subject was "If Jesus Came today would we let Him use our resources?" Mrs. Malone used scripture from James and Luke. An article entitled "a plea for the Gospel" was given by Mrs. J. B. Lynne and another article "the organization of the new board of missions" by Mrs. L. J. Ramage. All meetings opened with song and prayer and closed with prayer.

JAMES DUNCAN MEMORIAL CIRCLE

On Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock Mrs. Rufus Pearson was hostess to the members of the James Duncan Memorial Circle of the Women's Missionary Society of the First Methodist church. There was a short business meeting at which the social workers were appointed to assist Miss Richardson at the community house. There were Mrs Will Cowden, Mrs. W. T. Lowe, Mrs. Roger Gardener, Mrs. R. J. Moseley and Mrs. Russell Green. The remainder of the afternoon was spent in sewing on articles to be sold, the proceeds to go to the church. At the close of the afternoon an ice was served after which the meeting was adjourned to meet next Monday with the auxiliary at the church.

Circle No. 6 of the Central Baptist W. M. U. met with Mrs. B. L. Malone Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The devotional was led by Mrs E. M. Lee, after which Mrs. J. F. Smither, the leader of the circle, presided at the business session when plans were made to raise more funds, the meeting was closed with prayer.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess. The next meeting will be with Mrs. F. L. Chenault.

Members of Circle No. 1 of the Central Baptist church met at the home of Mrs. E. T. Branum on 6th avenue West. The meeting was opened by song wrich was followed by the devotional led by Mrs. Ernest Walker and prayer led by Mrs. O. R. Johnson. At the business meeting it was decided to give a Silver Tea the date to be announced later. At the close of the meeting the hostess served iced tea and sandwiches.

ED SUTHERLAND COMES THROUGH WITH WINNER

Poor Eddie Sutherland. He's always being mistaken as an actor by studio visitors. And he's really not. No sir, Eddie is a director—and one of the finest.

Remember Tom Meighan's "Coming Through?" Sutherland produced that. Did you get any thrills from "Wild Wild Susan?" Another Sutherland opus. And that great big comedy "Wow"—"Behind the Front!" Was there ever a picture which gave you or anyone else, quite as many laughs? That marked the highest point of Eddie's directorial career.

But he's still young. Sutherland has a long way to go before he reaches thirty—and his latest Paramount film, "It's the Old Army Game," which features Louise Brooks and stars W. C. Fields, is at Princess Thursday and Friday.

FAMOUS FRENCH RECIPES

PARIS—Fish loaf might replace the usual meat variety for summer picnics.

Almost any good fish can be used. Salmon and white fish are very good. Cook it in a court-bouillon, remove the bones and skin, then mash well and add a thick Bechamel sauce and a few bread-crumbs. Season.

Stir over a slow fire, stirring all the time and add the yolks of two eggs, then the white beaten well. Put into a buttered mold and bake in a moderate oven.

When a straw comes out dry, the loaf is sufficiently cooked.

Serve with a good piquante sauce.

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl of sixteen and am in love with two young men. They have both asked me to marry them, yet I don't know which one to choose.

One of them likes a quiet and comfortable home. He does not drink or smoke. The other is crazy for outdoor life. He goes to dances every night and drinks.

Which should I choose?

BROWN EYES.

BROWN EYES: In the first place, little girl, you are not in love with either young man, for if you were really in love there would not be the shadow of a doubt in your mind.

In the second place, you are far, far too young to even consider marriage. Go back to school, my dear, and stop thinking about men and love. After you have crammed a little more knowledge into that head of yours and read a lot of good books and gotten a few years older will be time enough for you to think of such things.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

1. Do you think it right to invite a young man to your home when your parents are not home?

2. If a man has asked you to go out with him and you have not told him yes or no, would it be proper to call him up on the phone?

DOUBTFUL.

DOUBTFUL: 1. No. You must never entertain young men at your home unless one of your parents is there to chaperone you.

2. What were your arrangements? If you were not able to tell him your answer he really should phone you and ask you your decision. However, if it is impossible for him to get in touch with you, you might drop him a note giving him your answer.

Don't Give Baby Harsh Laxative In Hot Weather

Mother, be careful of the laxative you give Baby, especially in hot weather. Laxatives that may be all right for older children are frequently too drastic for delicate little intestines of babies.

Don't experiment! Dr. Moffett's Teethina is especially prescribed for babies. It is a baby doctor's prescription, designed to gently regulate the little liver and bowels, correct sour, gassy, acid stomach, aid digestion and help Nature send purer and healthier blood coursing through rosy cheeks. Like millions of mothers you, too, will realize its priceless value when Baby is well and playful again. Price, 30c per package, at all druggists.

THE

ANNUAL PICNIC BARBECUE AND POLITICAL RALLY

At Mineral Spring

WILL BE ON JULY 28th.

A half holiday will be in effect in Albany-Decatur and Hartselle—all are welcome.

Come and let's lay our troubles away for one day.

Your Doctor Knows What He Wants. So Do We.

In writing a prescription for you or one of your family, your doctor considers the individual needs. In very many instances the heart especially must be considered. So compounding prescriptions must be very carefully done. We realize its importance.

Your doctor would just as soon phone your requirements to us. We will follow his orders—exactly. And, if you wish, deliver the prescription.

ASHEVILLE IS PICKED AS STAGE FOR FIGHT ON OLD BLUE LAWS

By International News Service

ASHEVILLE, N. C.—Exponents of liberal thought and restrictionists soon will lock horns in the mountains of North Carolina in what is foreshadowed as one of the greatest legal skirmishes ever to take place between two groups of extremists.

Asheville, North Carolina's mountain resort city, has been selected by the National Association Opposed to Blue Laws as the city in which the test case for Sunday baseball and movies will be made.

Linn A. E. Gay, secretary-treasurer of the association and Henry Flury, of Washington, D. C., announced on their arrival here plans for bringing the case into the courts in an effort to banish the blue law hold on the state.

As soon as preparations can be made, they declared, either a baseball game or a movie will be held on Sunday. Then, they said, the national association will be ready to aid them in the trial they anticipate will ensue.

Gay maintains that North Carolina's blue laws were passed before the ratification of the United States and are therefore unconstitutional. He will base his case upon this contention, he declared.

From North Carolina the two liberalists will go to Tennessee and then to Missouri in an effort to break down the blue laws in those states.

"UNCLE TOM'S CABIN," AS PRINTED IN ENGLAND IN 1852, BRINGS HIGH PRICE

By International News Service

LONDON.—A copy of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," Harriett Beecher Stowe's famous book on the American slave days published in London in 1852 by Cassells in the thirteen original numbers with the yellow wrapping and completely uncut, was sold here for the comparatively high price of $82 recently.

The book was described in the sale catalog as the "first English edition." The high price realized for the book was probably due to the illustrations by the famous Cruikshank which it contained.

Farm Notes

The first county camp for farm women begins today at the Ki-Y Camp at Vinemont. About 45 women are expected to attend. The camp begins today at 9:00 o'clock and will continue through tomorrow until 4:30 in the afternoon.

Besides the joy of camping other things will be given those present. Miss Josephine Eddy, state clothing specialist from Auburn, will be with us both days, giving the women lessons in color and clothing budgets. Mrs. Minnie Welsh, a local woman, will give a demonstration to the women in making splint baskets.

Wednesday night will be camp night. The evening will be given to camp songs and stunts. We shall be glad to have our friends of the county visit us at this time. The program will begin about 7:30 o'clock.

It is hoped this will become an annual affair, and that next year every home demonstration club member in the county will be able to go on the camp.

At least three women from the Morgan County Home Demonstration clubs will attend the state short course for farm women which is being held at Auburn beginning next Sunday afternoon and ending Friday afternoon, August 6th.

At this meeting a state council for Farm Women will be organized. Our County Council president, Mrs. Tom Price will represent our county clubs. A written report of the women's work in the entire county will be given. Mr. and Mrs Price are planning to drive through the country for the meeting.

Mrs. Mary Cunningham, president of the Somerville club and secretary of the County Council and Mrs. J. J. Dinsmore, secretary of the Falkville club will be the other representatives. The Kiwanis club of Albany-Decatur has generously paid the expenses of two of these representatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris McClellan of Priceville are planning to make the trip through the country with Mr. and Mrs. Price. We are hoping that others will join these farmers and their wives and make a large party of Morgan County folks attending these meetings for the farm folks of the state.

The Priceville Girls' Club met at the home of Mrs. W. T. Price on July 23rd. Six members were present. The meeting was called to order by the vice president as the president was absent. The secretary was also absent, and Essie Bennick was appointed to take her place. After a club song and yell, which the girls had learned at the County Short Course last month, Miss Hamilton led the girls in a discussion on the living room and its furnishings.

The importance of keeping the record books up-to-date was stressed by Miss Hamilton, and directions for work during the coming month were given.

For the lesson of the month, Miss Hamilton gave a demonstration in canning in which she was assisted by Elizabeth Price, attended the Canning School in Hartselle, July 1st and 2nd. Beans and tomatoes were canned in glass jars, standard containers.

A jar of beans which had been canned previously by a club member was judged and compared with those canned at the demonstration. Each girl was urged to put up a number of standard containers for exhibit purposes.

The meeting was closed with the club pledge to meet in the grove at Mrs. W. T. Price's on August 13.

The Water Installation Demonstration, which was held at the home of Mr. Tom Price at Priceville ended with an interesting demonstration on Saturday afternoon There were people present from several communities in the county to see the system which was installed under the supervision of Mr. M. A. Barnes of the agricultural Engineering department of Auburn and to hear the talks made.

They were taken from the attractive bath room to the kitchen and on to the drainage system, which included a septic tank and sewage disposal. From the conversations heard during the afternoon one would believe that in the near future there will be other water systems in Morgan County.

During the demonstration Mr. Barnes spoke especially of the technical part of the installation. Dr. McRee was present and talked from the sanitation and health point of view. Mr. Price quoted interesting figures as to the cost of the entire system. These will be published at a later date. Mr. J. B. Patterson, who has had running water in his home for several years told what it meant to the farm home to have the conveniences it affords. Miss Hamilton presided over the meeting and stressed the importance of these conveniences in the farm home.

Mr. and Mrs. Price will be very glad to have anyone in the county, who is interested visit their home and see their system. Let us hope that in just a few years the farm home in Morgan County without running water will be the exception.

Moulton News

J. K. Ayers, city marshal and law enforcement orffiicer, has a quiet way of capturing numerous bootlegging concerns and letting the public get hold of it as it may. It leaks out that among the prizes of the past week was a large still cut in the mountains south of Moulton with 1200 gallons of beer and 88 gallons of whiskey among the many good effects of the present enforcement is a very noticeable decline in the number of silent cars that have had business through the town at any hour of the night.

Judge James E. Horton, of Athens, opened circuit court for Lawrence county, Monday afternoon in Moulton with a heavy docket for the week which is for civil cases and a still heavier one for criminal week to follow.

Ladies of the P. T. A. sold dinner and lemonade on the court yard Monday for the benefit of the county high school. They netted approximately fifty dollars for the school. The dinners were contributions from interested people of the town.

Good rains have been falling over Lawrence county since Saturday and, though local, they have been so scattered as almost to cover the county; one Sunday evening over the northeast part of the county was heavier than for many months accompanied by quite an electrical storm.

The annual singing convention of Lawrence county brought together hundreds of people from various sections Sunday at the county court house. Classes from half a dozen or more communities sang.

Returns from the school census being taken in the several school districts of the county during July seem to indicate a slight increase in the school population since 1924 at which time there was a decrease over that of 1925. W. R. Jackson, probate judge, has arranged to make immediate payment to the enumerators as their papers are approved for the work; the remuneration being six cents the head.

NO NEED TO DREAD BABY'S TEETHING

If at This Time Soiled Objects Are Kept Away from an Infant's Mouth It is Not Likely To Be Ill or Fretful.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.
United States Senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City

DR. COPELAND.

NOT so long ago I drove down into Virginia to call on some friends. It so happened there was a seven-weeks baby in the house. Naturally and properly it was the centre of an admiring group.

I was much impressed by the many evidences of good sense in the care of the infant. To begin with, the child was not wrapped and swathed in a multitude of garments. A clean sheet was stretched over a wide couch and upon it the baby wiggled and twisted to its heart's content.

It is a shame to make a prisoner of a tiny baby. To shackle and bind and bundle such a morsel of flesh is a crime against its freedom and health-giving exercise.

But these are not the things I had in mind to tell you. I want you to hear what the sensible grandmother of this baby said. It was this:

"I don't believe a word about the evils of teething and the dangers of the second Summer!"

Good for you, Grandmother! A false popular conclusion has been reached in this matter. Just because the upset stomach and bowels, the fever and discomfort, have coincided with the period when the teeth are cut, is not proof conclusive that they have resulted from the teething.

Of course the teething period is a time when the nervous system is developing. This fact, together with the mouth tenderness of the time, must not be disregarded as having some effect upon the vitality and resistance of the child. But I am sure the significance of teething has been overdrawn.

Nature never intended that the "natural" processes, the many circumstances of growth and development, should be accompanied by peculiar dangers and possibilities of disaster. I have more faith in Nature than to believe this.

The trouble with us human beings is that we abuse the body. We insult Nature by neglecting her simple rules. We add injury to insult by deliberately violating her laws.

In a baby's life the centre of gravity is the mouth. To it gravitates everything the child can get its hands on and failing anything else to put there, its own little fist is thrust into its mouth. Even its toes find their way there.

It wouldn't matter much about what gets to baby's mouth, if the things were clean. But they aren't. Dirty toys and dirtier fingers are pressed and rubbed into the gums. Is it any wonder the mouth gets sore and inflamed?

Dirty rubber nipples and teething rings, contaminated objects of every sort—all these are a menace to the mouth health and general welfare of the child. If such things are kept from the lips and gums and tongue, it will mean much for the baby's good.

The mouth should be washed out carefully, soft cloths or cotton being used for the purpose. The feeding bottle, the spoons, the toys—reaching this magnetic cavity should be thoroughly clean, surgically clean.

When the mother follows these suggestions I am sure she will have no occasion to dread the second Summer, or the teething period whenever it comes.

Answers to Health Queries

Mrs. F. J. Q.—Where can I get literature relative to the care and feeding of babies? My baby is six months old.

A.—Apply at one of the Baby Health Stations or at a medical book store, where I feel sure they will be able to advise you along the lines you request.

L. V. B. Q.—What causes a spot in the throat about the size of a pea and a discharge coming from same?

A.—This condition may be due to diseased tonsils, have your throat examined.

E. S. L. Q.—What causes the joints to crack?

A.—This condition is usually due to lack of synovial fluid. Massage the parts with warm cod liver oil before retiring. This may help you.

DRAMATICS WHILE IN PRISON BOBBED HAIR BANDIT IN FOR

AUBURN, N. Y.—Cecelia Cooney, famous "bobbed hair" bandit, and other women convicted of murder who are serving life terms at Auburn prison, have gone in for dramatics.

The world may never see these criminals on the stage, but in Auburn prison, their fame is general.

Prison oficials condone the study of dramatics by the young flapper prisoners for it provides an outlet for their minds, and overcomes the ennui of existence behind grey prison walls.

Cecelia is a comedienne the star of the women's prison. She sings "Down by the Winegar Woiks" with as much vim, pep, emotion art, as the best of the vaudeville artists who have killed the song.

Dot Perkins, the 17 year old slayer of her former sweetheart, Thomas Templeton; Mrs. Paulette Saludes, who killed Oscar M. Martelliere; Pearl Odell, who helped kill her former lover and whose husband went to the electric chair for his part in the crime; Lillian Raizen, another of the famous women slayers, all of them are taking the stage seriously.

Permitting dramatics in prison is a new venture at Auburn, but the results, according to prison officials are very promising. That drawn, haggard an expression of horror and revolution, often associated the faces of the notorious women convicts.

Make believe is happiness to all of them, for it takes them outside the prison walls and shuts off the visage of the future of years ahead of bars and prison food and prison clothes.

The women's prison also boasts of its own orchestra, which furnishes music for the women's affairs. Furthermore, the orchestra is practically useful when "outside" shows come to the prison, which is not seldom.

Boost Your Town

If you want to live in the kind of a town
Like the kind of a town you like,
You needn't pack your clothes in a grip,
And start on a long, long hike,
For you'll only find what you've really left behind.
For there's nothing that's really new.
When you blame your town, you blame yourself,
For it isn't the town, it's you.
Real towns are not made by me afraid lest some one else get's ahead;
But when everyone works and nobody shirks.
You can raise a town from the dead.
So if while you make your personal stake,
Your neighbor makes one too,
You'll have the town you'd like to see,
For it isn't the town, it's YOU.

Said Pershing Would Make Good

By International News Service

LACLEDE, Ma.—Poking about in his attic for a fishing tackle, an old inhabitant of this town, which prides itself in claiming to be the home-town of General J. J. Pershing, ran across an issue of the Laclede News printed in 1881 which contained the following article:

"John J. Pershing will take leave of his home and friends this week for West Point, where he will enter the United States Military Academy. John will make a first rate, good-looking cadet with Uncle Sam's blue and we trust that he will ever wear it with honor to himself and the old flag which floats above him. John here is our hand. May success crown your efforts and long life be yours."

The editor's prediction that John will make a first rate cadet," was borne out.

Barons Return to the Fold With Flock of New Talent to Try for Southern Rag

The Barons are back. After a road trip serving ups and downs and lots of chilly talk about slipping in the ranks while hunting for New Orleans and Memphis up near the front.

Birmingham did get lost in the chase, but as this is the logical time to spurt, it is thought that your Uncle Johnathan Dobbs will be right on time to start clattering for the top perch. Dobbs has lost Crowder, that means games lost, but he has Curley Ogden and Emil Palmero, folks who have been in the big show though it is to be admitted that they failed to make much of an impression while they were wearing Senatorial uniforms.

Dobbs has Tex Jeanes, the return of Sammy West, Ernie Neiztche, and some other folks who are not so important as they might have been. Curley Ogden is due for the first hurling assignment when he meets Chattanooga in the initial go of a five game series.

The Barons have been halting long enough and if the Dobblings hope to make an impression they better determine to let the war start right now. New Orleans and Memphis will be so far out in front that the contest won't even be interesting.

The Pirates added another notch to the hilt of their long distance pennant gun yesterday when they managed to choke a Robin rally by the good throwing arm of one Kiki Cuyler, former Vol who has been showing the big leagues just how baseball should be played. Cuyler took Bohne's fly and then threw to the plate in time to double Butler who was speeding homeward with the tying run.

Dazzy Vance was on the hill for the Robins and turned in a masterful performance with the exception that he was given to wildness at times. He yielded but six hits, then ruined his game with seven passes, two of which were diverted into run avenue. Cuyler likewise managed to score two of the three Pirate plate efforts. Yde hurled for the Pirates and gave away but four hits until the ninth when he weakened and was replaced by Babe Adams, veteran, who pulled through with the aid of Mr. Cuyler.

The Pirate win places them eight points ahead of the Reds who were forced to keep quiet yesterday, not being scheduled.

Only one game was played in the American league, the Athletics winding up their disastrous home stay with a 5-0 verdict over the Red Sox. Rommel stopped the Red Sox with four hits, Flagstead getting two of them. Zahniser was replaced in the ninth by Russell, but the latter was pounded for three runs by the A's. Philadelphia is still in third place although the margin is not at all healthy as compared with the yowling troup of Detroit Bengals who are now stirring uneasily in fourth place, just 11 points behind the Macks.

One game was played in the Southern league, the Travelers winning from Mobile 7-5. The game was a postponed affair to play off a tie of last May.

One Divorce In Every 125 Wed

By International News Service

OTTAWA Ont.—If you are looking for an easy divorce, don't go to Canada. Only one marriage out of every 125 goes on the rocks in the dominion annually, while one marriage in every seven in the United States ends in the divorce court, a government survey shows.

That husbands and wives in Canada are still loyal to the "till death do us part" tradition is indicated by the survey which shows that only 551 divorces were granted in the Dominion in 1925 out of a population of 9,000,000. This was an average of one divorce to every 163,300 people. In the United States a total of 165,225 decrees were issued in 1923, the last year for which statistics are available, or an average of one divorce to every 635 people.

DEMPSEY-TUNNEY BOUT SCHEDULED FOR AUGUST 16

Yankee Stadium Is Chosen For World Champ Title

BATTLERS GO INTO TRAINING

Rickard Declares that 80,000 Will Pack The Stands

CHICAGO, July 27.—A Dempsey-Tunney heavyweight world championship bout is planned by Tex Rickard for the Yankee Stadium in New York on September 16. The fight Rickard believes will pack the stadium with 80,000 boxing fans, approximately the same attendance of the Dempsey-Carpentier battle at Boyle's Thirty Acres.

William S. Carey, vice-president of the Madison Square Garden Corporation, will go before the New York state athletic commission today to ask approval of the bout, Rickard said.

A decision to stage Gene Tunney's long sought opportunity to meet Jack Dempsey, the champion, was disclosed by Rickard today as he was preparing to leave Chicago after a hectic week.

The promoter did not give up the possibility of bringing the world championship fight to Chicago until the last minute, advices from New York and in particular a telegram from George Brower, member of the New York state athletic commission, last night urging him to return to New York and consider staging the bout there, apparently dictated Rickard's decision.

The selection of Thursday, September 16 as the fight date, was chosen with consideration of the availability of the Yankee stadium and the effect of possible bad weather. The stadium will be available, Rickard said, from September 9 to 26.

Dempsey will train at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Eugene Normile, representing the champion, declared as he departed for Colorado Springs today to join Dempsey. The latter plans to establish a training camp on August 1 in a cottage specially built for him. He also trained at Saratoga Springs for his fight with Firpo.

Tunney is expected to train on the Atlantic Coast, possibly at Atlantic City, N. J., Rickard said.

Taking cognizance of the move to bring the Tunney-Dempsey fight to the Yankee stadium, James A. Farley, chairman of the state athletic commission, declared today he stood "pat" in opposition to the bout and predicted it would neither be held in New York or anywhere else this year.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. July 27—Gene Tunney was elated today when informed that his fight with Dempsey may be staged in New York City.

HERE'S WHAT THE ICE USER SAVES

Counting all the costs—installation charge, upkeep, repairs, current costs, depreciation on mechanical refrigerators and the first and final cost of ICE, it has been conservatively estimated that the average family which uses ice saves about $68.03 yearly.

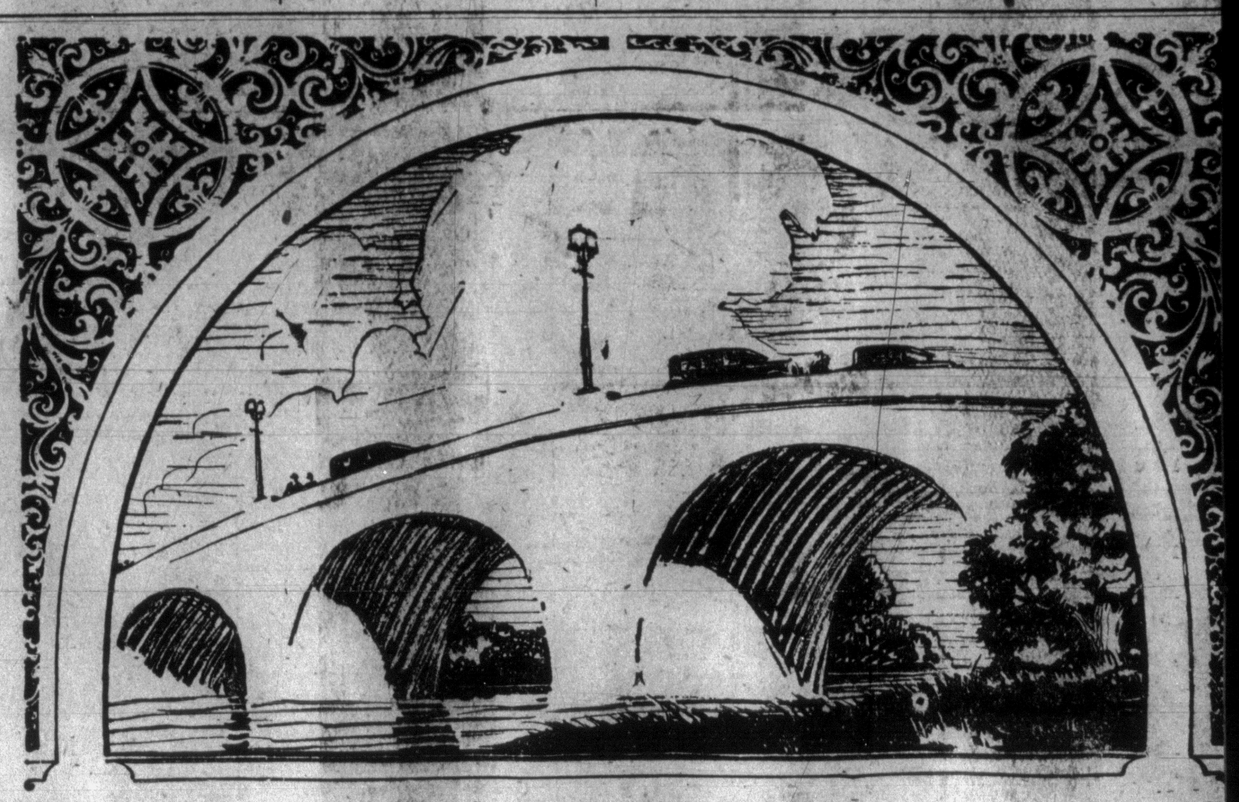

BUT THIS IS NOT THE ONLY SAVING

Ice users save time, required in filling trays for ice cubes, also worry with mechanical devices, which must be kept in good working order all the time.

Ice needs no looking after. It does its work without being watched. It never get out of order.
